Derek Davodowich — Guitar

A Berklee College of Music graduate with degrees in both Guitar Performance and Music Education, Derek Davodowich built his career as a touring musician, recording artist, and private instructor after relocating to Nashville. His credits include a national tour with Contemporary Christian act Twenty Twenty, work with Gospel quartet The Cumberland Boys, and a run of country and pop touring groups. After 14 years in Nashville, Derek returned to the NY metro area, where he's worked across original projects, tribute acts, off-Broadway productions, and served as Guitar Editor for MusicPlayers.com. In 2009, his work with Days Before Tomorrow earned “CD of the Year” at the LA Music Awards. Drawing on a musical vocabulary spanning jazz, rock, pop, country, and classical, Derek brings a melodic, versatile touch to any stage.
